

Frederick Weston

Bio

Frederick Weston is a Director of The Regulatory Assistance Project. Since 1999, when he joined RAP, Mr. Weston has been working extensively in China, assisting in the development of new policy initiatives in efficiency, pricing, and environmental regulation. When not in China, Mr. Weston works with US state and federal policymakers on matters relating to energy efficiency, renewables, regulatory reform and pricing, regional market operations, and emissions regulation. More recently, he has begun work under the International Energy Agency's DSM Programme.

From 1989 to 1999, Mr. Weston served as Economist and Hearing Officer at the Vermont Public Service Board. He was Co-Chair of the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners' Staff Subcommittee to the Committee on Energy Conservation from 1994 to 1997. He also served as Co-Chair of NARUC's Staff Subcommittee on Electric Industry Restructuring in 1996 and 1997.

From 1987 to 1989, Mr. Weston worked as an energy and economic consultant for clients in the U.S. and Middle East. He worked for the American International Group in Saudi Arabia from 1981 to 1984. Mr. Weston received his M.A. in Law and Diplomacy from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University in 1987 and his B.A. in English Literature from Middlebury College in 1979. He also received advanced intensive training in Arabic from the American University in Cairo in 1986.
